March 16th, 2018 UAMSS Quarterly Highlights

Locum Tenens Training

Presented by David Hill,
Sr. VP CompHealth

- Originally started in Utah by University of Utah physicians
- Used to fill physician or allied professional needs in demand, especially in underserved populations across the country
- Those who practice locum tenens do so for multiple reasons to include: travel, part time work, maintaining hands in medicine for retired physicians/allied staff, and exploring areas of the country before committing to a permanent positions.
- Locums Agencies will follow their own accrediting standards, usually NCQA or JHACO, as well as the facilities credentialing standards. Most agencies are there to assist in the credentialing process to make your job easier and narrow the time it takes to credential them.

National Healthcare Legal Update

Presented by Hailey Bandy, J.D.

- Discussed legal updates with regards to healthcare within the state and nation.
- Reviewed laws Donald Trump is signing into place and the positive/negative effects including Medicaid expansion.
- Bill updates in Utah's most recent legislative session have included, but are not limited to: blood testing, women's cancer screenings, radiology practitioner amendments, stroke and cardiac registry, physician testing, and recommended cannabis.
- We had an open discussion on the MOC laws that failed this year and will likely be brought back to the statehouse next year.

Updates & Things To Come

The UAMSS Board has been working on a process to take online credit card payments for membership. We will utilize PayPal for this venture. You can now pay by credit card using our email:
uamssboard@gmail.com. If you have any issues trying to make a payment please email us and we will do our best assist.

Congratulations

The UAMSS Board would like to congratulate Charlene Frail-McGeever for passing her CPCS exam!

We are now on LinkedIn!

This is a great opportunity to network and align with NAMSS. This will also be another avenue to educate others on Medical Staff Services. Please follow us and spread the word!
